OnetoOne tuition

providing flexible tutors on a consistent basis

■ Connaught Education have been working successfully with schools providing one to one tuition as part of the government funded initiative aimed at improving children's confidence and understanding of English and Mathematics.

This initiative has been specifically designed for children who have the greatest need, providing a one to one learning format which enables intensive and individual academic support.

We are able to provide staff for assignments ranging from 1 to 35 hours per week, including weekends and evenings, depending upon individual requirements. All of our tutors are fully referenced and cleared as part of our Department of Education Quality Mark accreditation.

We have concentrated on developing a bank of teaching professionals who have a real passion and commitment to children who have specific needs and or circumstances.

■ Our commitment to SEN

Connaught Education has developed a specialist team to serve the SEN sector, as we recognise the need to properly understand the range of complex challenges which exist in this specific area of education. Our dedicated SEN team supply special needs teachers and support staff to maintained and non maintained primary, secondary and special schools. We understand the need for flexible, adaptable and skilled teachers with the right qualification and experience to work in the special needs sector, whether the need be for day to day or short-term supply, long-term assignment or permanent work.

Consistency is our key

Connaught Education provides qualified teachers, classroom support, administration, senior management and leadership personnel. We offer emergency, day to day and long-term supply plus permanent recruitment solutions. We work with schools, colleges and nurseries in the UK and overseas.

We specialise in early years, primary, secondary, SEN and also preparatory and senior schools from the independent schools sector. We also focus on further and adult education including work based skills training.
